

Souad Boutegrabet – Biography

Souad Boutegrabet is CEO of DesCodeuses.

After 10 years in the banking sector, she decided to become a programmer, a very restricted sector for women. She created DesCodeuses in 2017 with the mission to aid in the professional integration of women in tech, designed specifically for women from urban neighborhoods and addressing the obstacles to access training and technical jobs.

DesCodeuses runs professional training programmes through centers in Paris and Saint-Ouen and will soon open campuses in Marseille and Lille.
